"DAMNED LIARS"

HOWARD McGILLIS DEFENDS U. S. SOLDIERS IN CRITICISM OF Y. M. C. A.

"Damned Liars"—These were the words uttered last Thursday night by Rev. E. H. Willisford, ex-Y. M. C. A. "worker" in a public address before an audience of 500 people at the High School auditorium, and directed against the returned overseas soldiers who are letting the public know how they were defrauded by the Y. M. C. A. canteens. As I am one of these two millions of "damned liars" who was a victim of the Y. M. C. A.'s high prices on the front and elsewhere, I am taking this opportunity to inform the home people just how the American soldier in France was imposed upon by the Y. M. C. A. and how that (so-called) Christian organization has betrayed a sacred trust given to it by the American people. As Rev. Willisford's statement is a direct untruth it would be a highly advisable plan in the future for him to refrain from making similar outbursts. I have heard (through those who were with him at the front) that Rev. Willisford carried out his purpose zealously and conscientiously while "over there," but when an ordained minister of the gospel comes back and issues such statements he is either ignorant of 95 per cent. of the Y. M. C. A.'s activities in France or he is decidedly a hypocrite. I have known Rev. Willisford several years and not until he joined the Y. M. C. A. did I ever hear of him using profanity. One may think that this article is entirely too hypocritical, but if the truthfulness of any of the statements made is doubted in the least merely question the first overseas soldier you meet (especially one that has seen action at the front) and you will receive conclusive proof.

In Rev. Willisford's speech as published in Friday's News, he attempted to uphold the Association against criticisms, but continually found himself "in hot water." Rather than an effort of exoneration it appeared to be a case of self-defense. One seemingly ridiculous argument was that "owing to the extent of the Y. M. C. A. operations, they could not fairly be compared with the smaller activities of the K. C. and Salvation Army"—it is easy to see that anyone with any practical business ideas would change the shoe to the other foot. How could the Salvation Army, with 350 members in France, be evenly compared in their activities to those

PARENTS SURPRISED

CHIDREN OF DR. AND MRS. C. J. FARROW ENTERTAIN FOR FATHER AND MOTHER

The most thoroughly surprised people that have been seen in Glendale for many moons were Dr. and Mrs. C. J. Farrow, of 214 W. Doran street. They had accepted a dinner invitation at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Clark and at the conclusion of the meal received a telephone summons to come home. On arriving they found eighteen or twenty of their friends assembled for the evening, the house was beautifully decorated in valentine style, their three children, Claudius J. Jr., Misses Alice and Virginia Farrow, were receiving the guests with perfect self-possession and composure. They then learned that the aforesaid children had planned and executed the affair including very nice refreshments of ice cream, cake and punch, game prizes, favors, etc., with the aid of their aunt, Mrs. J. E. Osborne, who assisted them in serving. The evening was devoted to games, the guest list included the following: Messrs. and Mesdames Jack Baum, J. E. Brown, A. W. Beach, A. D. Cross, Oliver Clark, H. V. Henry, H. W. Howe, C. W. Guthrie, Dr. and Mrs. Farrow and Mrs. Osborne. Mrs. Baum won the lady's prize, and Mr. Clark the gentleman's favor.

PROFESSIONAL SINGERS

Quite a musical treat is in store for the members of the Glendale Parent-Teacher Associations who are invited to attend "Fathers' Night" at the Columbus Avenue school this evening. Mr. and Mrs. B. Edward Rees who have just come to this coast after a five-year concert tour throughout the east have been secured to sing. Mr. Rees is a tenor and his wife a soprano. They are strictly professional singers and the ladies in charge of tonight's program are jubilant over securing them for this entertainment. They will be accompanied by our own pianist, Miss Gertrude Champlain.

STREET IMPROVING

If you want to learn how street improvements are made in California you would better visit East Broadway and witness the contractors at work excavating and making preparations for putting in place the material for the street construction. It should be the part of every child's education to learn just what enters into the construction of modern road building.

WELCOME HOME

FRIENDS OF ODIN ASKELAND AND FRANK GIBSON ENTERTAIN IN THEIR HONOR

Two soldier boys, Odin Askeland of Battery E, 143d Artillery, and Frank Gibson, of the 47th Field Artillery, Battery E, who have just been discharged and returned to civilian life, were guests of honor at a pretty party given Saturday night at the Jewel City Cafe on Glendale and Broadway by their parents and members of the Good Templars' Lodge. The cafe was beautifully decorated with flags and the national colors, and with ferns and acacia bloom. The special hosts and hostesses were Mr. and Mrs. A. Askeland, their daughter, Mrs. H. A. Matthiesen and Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Gibson.

The guests who numbered about fifty were entertained with games and music from a grafonola, and fine speeches of greeting were made by Messrs. Arthur Lindley, Robert Taylor, J. N. McGillis and William Whycoff. A feature of the refreshments which consisted of ice cream, homemade cake and fruit punch, was a very large and handsome cake made by members of the Lodge on which was inscribed "Welcome Home," which was presented to the boys.

It was avery delightful evening for all present and a happy occasion for the special guests.

WILL SHOW HATS

GLENDALE WOMEN WILL HAVE OPPORTUNITY TO VIEW SPRING HEADWEAR

Mrs. Grace S. Yarbrough, who has been in the millinery business in Glendale for the past two years, says she has been studying the needs of the women of Glendale during that time and she feels that she knows just what they want.

Mrs. Yarbrough has recently made marked alterations and improvements in her display rooms adding mirrors and cabinets, and enlarging the space available for serving her customers. She looks for an unprecedented business this spring, in fact, her hats have already begun to move briskly. She has purchased a stock of the latest dress and street hats in the new straws and colors for all occasions, but she is making a specialty of medium priced hats.

Mrs. Yarbrough will have her spring opening Thursday, when she will display her pretty headwear for the delectation of the feminine portion of Glendale. All women delight in pretty millinery and no doubt her display rooms will be taxed to their capacity on that day.

LIBRARIANS MEET

PROFESSIONALS OF THE SIXTH DISTRICT ASSEMBLE AT ALHAMBRA

Mrs. Danford, City Librarian, her assistants, Miss Roberts and Miss Shattuck, last Saturday attended the Sixth District Library meeting at Alhambra, a very large gathering which was delightfully entertained with a luncheon at the Woman's Club House where there were excellent after-dinner speeches to supplement the fine program before and after the lunch hour, which included an inspiring talk by Miss Drake of the Los Angeles Library on "Library Service." A rather unusual address by Miss Krause of Chicago, who is here temporarily and who is connected with a technical library in the Windy City. A fine book review was given by Miss Haines of Pasadena, and an excellent talk on "Americanization in Los Angeles," by Mrs. Frank Gibson.

The proposed bill for the certification of librarians was discussed, and a new system of charging devised by Miss Chapin of Redlands.

Mr. Ferguson, State Librarian at Sacramento, was present and made valuable contributions. In many respects it was a session of great interest and value to all who attended.

RUSSIAN QUESTION PARAMOUNT

IMMEDIATE INTERVENTION URGED BY FRANCE AND PROCLAMATION OF WAR BY WINSTON CHURCHILL

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

Paris, Feb. 17.—The Russian question was the most important matter before today's meetings of peace delegates. Saturday was the tentative date for the Prince's Island conference on the Russian question, but it passed without development.

The supreme war council gave the greater part of this afternoon's session to a consideration of Russia. It was learned authoritatively that renewed pressure is being exerted for immediate intervention in Russia. It is understood that the French are urging military operations against the Bolsheviki to be carried out on a large scale.

At the same time it is understood that Winston Churchill has submitted a proposition for the solution of the Russian question which embraces a proclamation of a state of war, if necessary.

The United States continues to oppose any military move against Russia.

It was learned on good authority today that France has agreed to abide by the decision of the peace conference on the league of nations, regardless of contrary rumors.

HUGO HAAS THREATENS GERMAN GOV'T.

MAKES A VIOLENT ATTACK ON LEADERS AND ADMITS RUSSIAN SUPPORT OF SPARTACAN MOVEMENT

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

Weimar, Germany, Feb. 17.—Hugo Haas's statement that the Workmen's and Soldiers' Council intends to continue in existence until the coalition government proves it will completely socialize Germany, threw the national assembly into an uproar today.

Haas threatened renewed outbreaks by radicals if socialization is not soon accomplished. He followed this declaration with an accusation that the government murdered Rosa Luxemburg and Karl Liebknecht. This precipitated a near-riot. When the uproar subsided, Haas finished his speech with a violent attack on all of the government leaders and all connected with the government.

Haas admitted that the Spartacan movement has received financial support from Russia.

BALKANS THE PAWN OF EUROPE

BULGARIAN MINISTER TO U. S. DECLARES LEAGUE OF NATIONS MUST TAKE THOSE STATES OUT OF POLITICS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

Washington, Feb. 17.—The Bulgarian minister to the United States, in an interview today, declared that the Balkan nations have long been the pawn of European countries and that the league of nations must take the Balkans out of European politics.

EX-PRESIDENT TAFT'S STATEMENT

HIS STAND ON LEAGUE OF NATIONS EXPECTED TO HAVE GREAT INFLUENCE ON RATIFICATION OF TREATY

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

Washington, Feb. 17.—Former President Taft's statement, endorsing the league of nations, is regarded here as likely to have great weight in influencing the final attitude of the Senate when the peace treaty comes before that body.

LABOR TROUBLE ARBITRAMENTS

LABOR LEADERS AND CAPITALISTS SEEK TO PREVENT GENERAL BUILDING TRADES STRIKES

New York, Feb. 17.—Labor leaders and employers were conferring here today on steps to prevent a nation-wide strike of building trades workers.

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

Oakland, Cal., Feb. 17.—Forty per cent of the striking Oakland shipbuilders returned to work this morning. It was predicted that all would be back by Wednesday.

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

Paterson, N. J., Feb. 17.—The silk mill workers' strike ended today when 17,000 strikers returned to work under the War Labor Board's provisional settlement.

SUFFRAGE AMENDMENT REINTRODUCED

THE HOPE OF SUFFRAGISTS TO SECURE RECONSIDERATION BY SENATE BELIEVED ILL-FOUNDED

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

Washington, Feb. 17—Senator Jones of Washington today introduced the woman's suffrage amendment for a second time at this session. The suffragists have a lingering hope they will be able to get another vote at this session. The chairman of the suffrage committee says he regards another vote as impossible to secure.

THE WEATHER PROPHET

The honest weather prophet predicts the weather warmer after sunrise and cooler after sunset. But little dependence can be placed upon weather predictions in California. While a prediction may come true in some part of the state, it fails to come true in many other parts.

Local conditions seem to govern weather conditions so greatly at various points that a general prediction is of but little value.

MESOPOTAMIA LETTER

FRIEND OF FRANCES A. GAUNTLETT WRITES OF ROUTINE LIFE OF SOLDIER

"Glendale, Feb. 15, 1919.
"The Glendale Evening News,
"Gentlemen:—

"I notice that you have not printed a letter from Mesopotamia in your paper so far, and having received one or two, think it might be of interest to some residents to know a little about it. The country lies in Arabia between the Tigris and Euphrates, with Persia on one side, and the Great Desert on the other. Bagdad is on the Tigris, too, and up north lies Armenia. I have here copied some excerpts from a couple of letters received from a friend of mine, a soldier in the British army:

"Mesopotamia, 7-2-18.

"My Dear Fanny:—

"It is some time ago that I last wrote to you, and I dare say you will be not a little surprised at this letter.

"I landed in India in Nov., 1914, was there for a little more than two years, and have been in Mesopotamia ever since, and shall be very pleased when I am able to get back to dear old home again. I am not going to attempt to tell you of my experiences out here, for I haven't been among the front line heroes and have nothing to boast about. Some of my time has been spent as Senior Wireless operator on one of the transports which takes the troops up the Tigris to the scenes of action. I was very happy on that boat, and was sorry when my turn came to be relieved. There were only two of us, and we were old pals, so, of course, we could

BROTHER DECORATED

MRS. WOODS REJOICING IN HONOR WHICH CAME TO REGINALD KEATING

Mrs. Nanno Woods, of Milford street, has just received the pleasant news from Ireland that her brother, Reginald H. P. Keating, is one of four Irishmen who have been decorated by King George of England for conspicuous civilian services rendered during the war. At the beginning of hostilities the King created the O. B. E., Order of the British Empire with which to reward civilians who rendered extraordinary service. Her brother has filled several important official positions. Readers will remember the announcement that Robert Woods, her brother-in-law, had received the Croix de Guerre for distinguished gallantry in Italy.

"OVER SIXTY" PARTY

About fifty persons enjoyed the "Over Sixty" party given by the Junior League of the Riverdale Methodist Church on Central avenue Friday evening, for the entertainment of their elders. The social hall where the party was held was decorated with red hearts in honor of St. Valentine.

The first part of the evening was devoted to a program arranged by the juniors which included the following numbers:

Unison singing of "Blest Be the Tie That Binds," Prayer, by C. C. Chandler;" Welcome Song, by the Juniors; Reading, by Miss Dora Hewett; Solo, by Miss Emily Kopp; Hooverizing Song, by Erma and Obed Lucas; Junior League Song, by the children, air, "Keep Home Fires Burning;" Remarks, by Rev. Munger.

At the conclusion of the program, hearts were matched to secure partners in the games which followed. Each couple was required to go to the front and recite a nursery rhyme. Then each couple was given a newspaper apiece and pins for the making of a cap to be placed on the partner's head. Riddles, jokes and stories were told and then refreshments consisting of tea and chocolate, sandwiches and cake were served.

This is the second party of the kind the juniors have given and they plan to make it an annual event.

THE MASKED BALL

THE FANCY DRESS PARTY AT ELKS' CLUB HOUSE A LARGE AND BRILLIANT AFFAIR

The fancy dress masked ball at the Glendale Elks' Club House was undoubtedly the most brilliant affair of its kind that has ever been given in Glendale. Never have such novel and elaborately beautiful fancy costumes been seen on a ballroom floor here, nor in such numbers for a very large percentage of the membership was represented at the party, which was limited strictly to members and families.

To stimulate interest, prizes were offered for the most original costumes, viz., a prize for the best costumed couple, and separate prizes for the best lady's and best gentleman's costume.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Berman carried off the premium for the couple's prize as an Italian organ grinder and his wife, with typical costume and behavior. They were very good.

The first prize for lady's costume was very fairly won by Mrs. Bert Woodard, wife of the Exalted Ruler of the lodge who came dressed as a high class Turkish lady in very beautiful robing. As she had made her husband believe she would not be able to attend the ball on account of another engagement, he did not penetrate her disguise in spite of the fact that he paid her marked attentions throughout the evening, and she and his friends are much amused at his expense.

A. W. Dickinson won the gentleman's prize with a consistent characterization of a "coon," living up to the part with a very effective darkey swagger. There were also children's prizes, the girl's favor being won by Marceline Lamoreaux and the boy's prize by Francis Gilman, Jr., who made up excellently as a farmer boy.

It is impossible to enumerate all the pretty or unique costumes, but some idea of their variety may be gathered from the characters taken by some of the members. Exalted Ruler Woodard was there as "Casey Jones," the engineer, with his hand on the throttle; W. P. MacMullin was quite splendid as a typical Indian; J. H. Mellish cleverly personated "Jinks" in "Bringing Up Father;" Mr. and Mrs. James Apfel were "Birds of a Feather;" Myrtle Pulliam was beautifully gowned as an Egyptian lady; J. Bryant made a very elegant Colonial fine gentleman; Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Gilman effectively represented the "Glendale Evening News" and the "Elks' Bulletin" with costumes profusely decorated with the headings of those publications; Peter L. Ferry was an astonishingly good "Chinaman;"

WELCOME HAGOODS

INVITED TO MEET THEIR NEW NEIGHBORS AT HOME OF MRS. ELLA RICHARDSON

Mr. and Mrs. L. N. Hagood, who have recently moved to 215 West Chestnut street, were guests of honor at a party given Saturday night by Mrs. Ella Richardson, of Central avenue and Riverdale Drive, to welcome them to the neighborhood. The guest list was made up of their new neighbors. It was a valentine affair with hearts featuring the decorations, the refreshments and the games. The first part of the evening was devoted to old-fashioned childish games and guessing contests ending in a clever one originated by the hostess which completely nonplussed most of the guessers. The men of the party were segregated and given newspaper caps coming well down over the face with two peep holes for their eyes. The rest of their faces were covered with paper hearts of various colors. Then their wives were invited to inspect them and pick out from these papered ghosts the partners of their joys and sorrows. The lady who made the most successful guess received a prize as did also the man who most successfully eluded detection.

Refreshments of heart-shaped sandwiches, of pink and white cakes with heart decorations and of coffee were served about 12 o'clock. After that there was a music fest at which Mrs. Hagood played, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Parker and Mrs. Hallyer sang, and Mrs. Bosserman played some of her own compositions. The party did not break up until 2 a. m., and all declared they had enjoyed a perfectly delightful time.

The guest list included Messrs. and Mesdames S. A. Chase, Stephen Packer, E. S. R. Shank, A. W. Colby, R. M. Yost, LeRoy W. Bosserman, R. A. Puffer, Alexander Mitchell, Charles Parker, G. D. Roach, Philip Parker, J. E. Moode, Dr. and Mrs. Colin Cable, Mr. and Mrs. Hallyer.

COMMENT OF THE COUNTRYSIDE

Every city should have a live organization—Chamber of Commerce, Board of Trade, Development Association—or some kind of an association to look after the general interests of the community. Street corner suggestions do not count for much unless they are backed up by an organization that is united in its efforts to accomplish something worth while. It is indeed surprising what great things can be worked out for the good of a city by a body of men who become intensely interested in carrying out ideas that are for the city's good.

Information comes to the Evening News that the city officials have made temporary arrangements for the keeping open of the Pacific Electric waiting room on Sundays and holidays, that the ladies may have the advantage of lavatory accommodations. It would be very appropriate if the Pacific Electric Company would allow a suitable neat sign to be placed outside of the building and near the door, worded "Ladies' Lavatory" or "Ladies' Toilet." In these days, when so many tourists are visiting our beautiful little city, it is our duty to add to the comfort of these strangers in every way possible.

Success comes to him who waits, provided that during the waiting period due care is used in keeping everything in first-class condition. An abundant crop of oranges will come to the rancher providing the orange trees receive proper attention in the planting and in their growing time. Active waiting is what is needed in getting the best results. Build up a business upon principle rather than with an idea of making great financial gain in the early stages of the business.

Water seeks its level, and this law of nature should not be interfered with too much in street construction. Water passageways should be made sufficiently large to allow the water to flow without interruption. It is not a good plan to oppose the laws of nature in any line of work.

Learn something about the city in which you live. It is very common for a high school boy or girl to know more about the geography and history of an African or Asiatic country than they know about their own city and county. What about the area of Glendale? Bonded indebtedness? Population? Valuation of taxable property? Ordinances that govern the city? Why not have instruction in city affairs in homes and in schools?

RECONSTRUCTION IN THEOLOGY?

Dr. James Francis, the eloquent divine and Y. worker, who has just returned from France full of admiration for the American soldier and the work he has performed over there, has assured us we need not worry about the sort of men we are going to receive when the boys come home; that they are better men than they were before they went. Dr. Francis is tolerably reliable authority, and as his dictums are backed up by our own Dr. Willisford, we can consider that ghost laid.

But what about that other problem—the kind of ministers we are going to receive back when the "Ys" and the chaplains come home? A lot of them seem to have cut down creeds and theological requirements to emergency requirements and to be accepting at par the verdict of these soldiers who faced the realities of life and death when they faced the guns and bayonets of the enemy. Are we going to have "reconstruction" in theology and in the attitude of the church? Or, has the morale of our sky pilots broken down under the corrupting, exciting influence of camp life?

In his talk before the Tuesday Afternoon Club of Glendale, Dr. Francis told of a word of appreciation he received from a lieutenant following a big meeting he had addressed. With wet eyes the young officer gripped his hand, saying: "A damned fine talk, Chaplain!" and Dr. Francis refused to regard it as swearing, saying that to him it was a "religious utterance."

When Dr. Willisford was addressing the same club, he referred to the unlikelihood that the Germans would renew hostilities under the clever armistice terms arranged by General Foch, which called for the retirement of the armies to the banks of the Rhine and which would, therefore, carry a renewal of the war into the heart of Germany. Foch knew, the doctor declared, "they wouldn't be such d——n fools as to revive the war on their own soil with the devastation of France and Belgium before their eyes."

DEAN HUNT SAYS PROPOSED REDUCTION IN FEDERAL AGRICULTURAL APPROPRIATION THREATENS EXISTENCE OF CALIFORNIA FARM BUREAUS

"Farm bureau organizations in many States of the Union, including organizations in about half of the counties of California, will be wrecked if the three million dollar reduction in the Smith-Lever Act appropriation by the House of Representatives is allowed to stand by the United States Senate."

This statement was given out recently by Dean Thomas Forsyth Hunt of the College of Agriculture of the University of California.

Dean Hunt said: "The county farm bureaus of America, with a membership of one million farmers, are the greatest organization of their kind that the world has ever seen. These organizations have been fostered through the agricultural appropriations of Congress and are now threatened with disaster because the House of Representatives has reduced the agricultural appropriation to a point where it is impossible to support the farmers' organizations already existent or to further them in any of the States. The farmers of America have shown patriotism throughout the war which has been unequalled in the allied countries. With the cessation of hostilities, the House of Representatives proposes to so greatly reduce the service extended to them through the farm advisors that it will be impossible for the new organizations to function.

"The agricultural appropriation allowed by the House is $4,108,620 less than the amount available for the present fiscal year and is a reduction of $2,973,680 from the amount recommended by the secretary of agriculture. This means that California will have $108,000 less for farm advisor work than during the present year. The action of the House of Representatives cuts California's appropriation by $54,700, which, by the terms of the State bill, parallelling dollar for dollar the federal appropriation, means a loss to the work for the farmers of California of $109,400 per year.

"By this it will become necessary to discontinue two-thirds of the new farm bureau counties, among which will be San Bernardino, Contra Costa, Los Angeles, Santa Cruz, Mendocino, Ventura, Sutter, Yuba, Butte, Tehama, Shasta, Tulare, El Dorado, Kings, Sonoma, Orange and Monterey counties; while the other farm bureaus of the State, which are now clamoring for more assistants to develop the work already under way, will not only have to defer indefinitely any expansion, but to reduce the number of assistant farm advisors already at work. Such counties as San Joaquin, Alameda, Fresno, Kern, Riverside and Imperial will have the work materially reduced. Even the boys and girls who live on farms will be affected, since the agricultural clubs conducted in the past five years by the University of California must also suffer."

STATE NEWS

(By United Press)

LOS ANGELES, Cal. — Stenographers are busy today preparing the transcript of evidence taken at the war labor board hearing of wage demands of Pacific Electric railway trainmen. The transcript contains 680,000 words. It is to be sent to Washington, D. C., for review. A decision is expected in about sixty days. The hearing lasted nearly a month. Examiners Raymond S. Swing and W. R. Kelly were in charge. The question of wages to be paid the trainmen went before the war labor board following the strike of last July which lasted but a few hours. The board acted on the request of the men, the company not joining in the petition for mediation.

SAN FRANCISCO.—Wong Doo King, whom newspaper headlines dubbed "the wickedest man in Chinatown," is coming back. That is, unless San Francisco officials in the immigration office find a way out of international law he has spread for them. However, word has reached Chinatown that old "Tiger-eye," as he is known to Chinese, plans to resume his vacant throne. Forty years ago Wong Doo King became a power in the Chinese world which lies east and west of old Dupont street north of California and south of Pacific streets. In the silent war, in the days of the hatchetmen, he directed the Bing Kong tong's killers. Through tong influence he became a greater power. Not a nefarious deal, whether the starting of a gambling club, the sale of a 13-year-old slave girl or a little matter of a ten-tael tin of opium, but what the yellow hand of Wong Doo King was in it. Later when the pistol supplanted the hatchet and Waverly place was filled with acrid powder smoke, dead bodies and scurrying gunmen, Wong Doo King, directed the battle from a barricaded basement or bargained at the peace table for his tong. Despite the efforts of reformed Chinatown to have him deported he stayed in America until two years ago, when he returned to China of his own volition. Chinatown breathed easier at his going. But the "Tiger-eye" still has his cunning. He has secured an appointment from the Chinese government which makes him immune to immigration officials' control, and Chinatown awaits his return apprehensively.

ALTADENA, Cal., Feb. 17. — Say nothing and chop wood. That's Henry Ford's recipe for a real vacation. Every morning for the last month Ford has been vacationizing here. He and his son, Edsil, have put in an hour at the woodpile. Ford takes deepest delight in demolishing a particularly stubborn chunk. "It's great exercise," says Ford. "The average man does not exercise enough. Cutting wood cannot be excelled for keeping in physical trim. It's also an useful occupation."

STOCKTON, Cal., Feb. 17.—Raymond S. Miller, who recently won the democratic county central committee's endorsement for the appointment as successor to Postmaster L. F. Kuhn, resigned, was one time democratic nominee for assemblyman from this district. Mr. Miller is well known by reason of his long residence in Stockton, having grown up from boyhood here. He is the son of E. G. Miller, former Stockton real estate man, and has succeeded to the business of his father. He is also secretary of the Stockton Merchants' Exchange. The nomination of Miller has been passed by the committee to Senator Phelan, who, in turn, will submit the nominee's name to the President with his own endorsement.

SAN JOSE, Cal., Feb. 17.—The title of this is, "Who's to Blame?" A farmer and his wife entered a large grocery store and asked for a slab of bacon.

"How much will you have?" quizzed the clerk.

"About five pounds."

"Cost you three dollars."

"You don't tell me that bacon is selling for 60 cents a pound," roared the farmer.

"Yes, that's the price," apologetically replied the clerk.

"I'll go hungry before I pay for that bacon."

"Never mind my husband," interrupted Mrs. Farmer. "He gets those spells. We can afford the bacon all right; we just sold a pig for $80."

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Feb. 17.—"Farming land for the farmless farmer, and work for the workless," is prescribed as a "Sure cure for bolshevism and spartacism" in a letter to Governor William D. Stephens, from Gudmund Eirikson, National City, Calif. "Most millionaires," writes Eirikson, "complain that millions are a burden. Let the government take their millions and give them a lift." He suggests that the federal and state laws be enacted providing a 36-hour work week, wages from 50 cents to $1 an hour. Maximum income not to exceed presidential salary, all excess to revert to the government. Commandeering by the government of private property, with up to $1,000,000 exempted. Commandeering by the government of all public utilities, to be paid with 4 per cent. government bonds. No property tax, all revenues to be provided by duties and rental of government property. Governmental ownership and operation of one newspaper in each city of 10,000 or more inhabitants.

Personals

Mrs. Mary Colby, who had been the guest of Mrs. J. E. Bahrenburg on Park avenue, left last week for her home in Ventura.

Mrs. Frank R. Marsh, of Central avenue, has returned from a week's visit with Mrs. D. W. Hasson, of Buena Park.

Miss Susie Ott and her mother of 326 Cypress street have returned after spending a week in Los Angeles with friends.

The supper served Thursday evening by members of the Philathea Class of the Tropico Methodist Church netted over $40.

Mrs. J. M. Ferguson, of Waco, Texas, mother of Mrs. A. P. Ransone of 420 Arden avenue, this city, passed away Saturday night. She had been an invalid for several years.

William R. Phelon, District Manager of the Gas Company, who went to Victorville recently for rest and recuperation, writes that he has been greatly benefited by the change and is feeling much better.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Englehart and daughters, Misses Edith and Hilda, were recent guests of Mrs. Imler and Miss Hickman at Palm Villa. They came up from Braley to establish their daughter, Hilda, at Pomona College.

Tuesday evening the Ladies' Aid Society of the Riverdale Methodist Church on Central avenue will have a social at which readings will be given by Mrs. Nellie Pennyman. Refreshments will be served after the program.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fish had the misfortune to have their car stolen while they were in Los Angeles, Saturday. It was found later in the day, but stripped of all removable accessories. They are glad to get the original machine back, however.

Gilbert Cowan, who had been assisting in the Evening News office for a month in closing up work on the Glendale 1919 city directory, left Sunday for Shreveport, La., where he will be employed on the News-American, of which his brother, Robert Cowan, is the business manager.

Sunday was an ideal day even for Southern California and in consequence the boulevards were filled with automobiles bearing pleasure seekers anxious to enjoy the outdoors to the full. Trolleys were also heavily loaded especially those running beachward. Glendale visitors to Venice report seeing many of their townspeople there.

Dr. Harry V. Brown, of 337 North Central avenue, who has recently been discharged from army service, in which he had the rank of captain, has resumed the active practice of internal medicine and is now established at 916-917 in the Baker-Detwiler Building at 412 W. Sixth street, Los Angeles, where he will be glad to see old friends and patients.

The Glendale Floral & Plant Company is delighted with the proofs it is receiving of the love for plants and flowers in Glendale. Its valentine sale continued way into the evening and completely cleaned out all its stock of floral plants although it had prepared a large reserve. It also has found a big demand for roses which are being set quite extensively in Glendale gardens.

Mrs. J. F. Windas, of 122 East Garfield, and Mrs. George Haniquet of Brand boulevard were the guests of Mrs. Ducker at a luncheon given by the Woman's Twentieth Century Club of Eagle Rock Thursday at which Mrs. Willoughby Rodman, of Los Angeles, was the chief speaker on "Reconstruction Problems." She made a very fine talk. Dr. Jessie Russell, of Glendale, also spoke on legislative bills concerning child welfare. The ladies report that the entire program was fine.

Miss Dora Hewett, who is taking a nurses' training course, and whose home is on Gardena avenue, has had quite a series of misadventures in the sickness line. In the first place she had appendicitis and had to undergo an operation from which she made a very satisfactory recovery, returning to her duties in the hospital. Then in a short time she had influenza and came home to recuperate and returned to her work. In a few weeks she had another "flu" attack. She is now completely recovered from that and hopes she is going to enjoy an uninterrupted period of health.

WEATHER FORECAST: Fair tonight and Tuesday.

MASONIC NOTICE

Unity Lodge, No. 368, F. and A. M., will confer the Second Degree Tuesday, Feb. 18th, at 7:30 p. m., at the Masonic Temple, 232 S. Brand. Visiting Masons invited.

Mr. and Mrs. James Nix, their daughters, Ida Nix and Mrs. Arthur Taylor and little daughter Elizabeth, all of whom make their permanent home in Colorado, are here for the winter and are occupying a bungalow they own at 1561 Gardena street. They are having great pleasure motoring about Southern California. Friday they took in San Fernando Mission. Saturday they accompanied a party which visited the San Bernardino Orange Show, the party including Dr. and Mrs. C. J. Farrow and family, Mrs. J. E. Osborne, Mrs. B. S. Farrow, Mrs. J. E. Eckles and Mrs. Robinson. Sunday the Nix family and the Farrows went to Santa Monica.

SUNDAY HOUSE PARTY

The home of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Rowe was the scene of quite a house party Sunday when there was a reunion of friends who had known each other in Dundee, Illinois, to greet tourists from that city who are spending the winter in Southern California. The list included Mr. Irving and Miss Viola Rigby from Dundee, Miss Eloie Smith from Carpentersville, Illinois, Mrs. Edna Lawshe and daughter, Laura Lawshe, formerly from Dundee, but now living in Los Angeles. The Rigbys are spending the winter in Hollywood. These friends were mid-day dinner guests and in the afternoon were joined by Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Harrison and daughter, Helen Harrison, and nephew, John Harrison.

CORP. HEWETT WELL AGAIN

Mrs. M. A. Hewett, of 1941 Gardena avenue, has recently received letters from her son, Corporal Will Hewett, which have assured her of his complete recovery. While on his way back from Aix les Bains he was stricken with influenza and had to go to a hospital, but is now back in camp with his comrades. He has no idea how long it will be before he is sent home. It may be two months or it may be six. He is now entitled to wear two gold chevrons and his regiment is stationed at Laizerai in the district of Nancy, France.

Jimmy Mason a genuine "Clown;" Mrs. Hearnshaw very pretty in a Colonial costume; Mrs. Ed Lawrence highly effective in the garb of an old-fashioned gentlewoman; Miss Anna Bode was striking in a Jockey suit; Mrs. Dibbern attracted attention in a Yama Yama costume; Mrs. Jo Fortunato had a pretty novelty in a valentine costume; Mrs. Angelico was a typical school girl, and Miss MacMullin very fetching in an elaborate fancy dress.

On the committee of judges for the awarding of prizes were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Waite and Mrs. Pearl Keller, who conscientiously studied the dancers and weighed their points.

A fine orchestra from Los Angeles furnished exceptionally good music, and light refreshments were served throughout the evening.

From any view-point it was a tremendously successful affair and too much credit cannot be given the committee which had charge of the arrangements and which consisted of Messrs. A. H. Dibbern, R. D. Angelico, J. F. Hearnshaw and Frank E. Gilman.

SUNDAY SCHOOL PARTY

On Friday evening the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Meagher, of Garfield avenue, was generously thrown open to the boys and girls, also teachers, of the Intermediate Department of the Sunday School of the First Methodist Church of Glendale.

The home was beautifully decorated with acacia bloom, and hearts seemed to be prominent throughout.

Many games, all having some relation to St. Valentine's Day, were played. About 75 scholars were present to enjoy the splendid hospitality of their superintendent, Mrs. Meagher.

This department of the Sunday School is growing rapidly and is planning many good things for the future.

LIEUTENANT IMLER

Eugene H. Imler, who was in the Engineering Corps at Camp Humphreys, has won his lieutenant's commission and has been discharged from army service. After visiting relatives at Bedford, Pa., he came on to Berkeley where he is the guest of his sister, Miss Marjory, who is a student at the University. He is expected home the latter part of this week.

get on very pleasantly together. It is perfectly miserable for two fellows who can't agree to have to work together. A chap with a vindictive spirit could put the set out of action, and perhaps puzzle his mate for an hour or two with perfect ease. I remember sitting down for half an hour one afternoon, and receiving no signals began to wonder why. On examining the receiving set I discovered the reason. My pal had been pacing the cabin while on his watch immediately before and must have given it a tug accidentally.

"This is one of the vilest countries on God's earth, I should think. It's unbearably hot during the summer, and one big mud pond in the winter, at least during the wet season. I sincerely hope 1918 will see the end of the war and let us get back to civilization once more."

In a letter, received later, he says:

"Since writing my last letter, I have been promoted from corporal to O. C.; quite a nice little step up, isn't it?

"It is very difficult to say how long it will be before I shall be on my way home. General demobilization has, of course, not begun yet, but when it does I hope to be among the first to go home from here, for I was one of the first Territorials who landed in India in 1914. Also my work at home is still open to me immediately I obtain my discharge from the army, and it has been stated several times that men whose jobs are still open to them will be among the first to be demobilized, so I think I can have great hopes, all things considered.

"I am now looking forward more than I can tell to the day when I shall set foot again in dear old England, and see my darling mother and brothers and sisters. Thank God that He has kept them all for me up till now, and I pray daily that He will continue to do so until I get home again to be actually with them once more.

"Well, now, I must wind up. I hope I have not bored you, and do, please, write again as soon as you can.

"Your friend,

"WILL."

I think that on the whole this will give the Glendalians a pretty good idea of what the troops have been doing with the Turkish end of the war. I hope you will find some use for it.

Yours truly,

FRANCES A. GAUNTLETT.

NEW HATS ARE PEACHY.

By MARGARET ROHE
(Written for The United Press)

For quite some time the orchard fruit
Has ripened on our hats so cute,
But now truck gardens add their charms
And products from the country farms.
The coy cucumbers crisply nest
Upon the hats that are the best,
And carrots, turnips, beet-roots red
Are raised upon each swagger head.

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—"By their fruits ye shall know them"—scripturally and sartorially speaking this is a safe way to pick lots of the new spring hats. As first fruits of the season the saucy little shepherdess toques, turbans and pokes, vivid with a variegated assortment of orchard and vineyard products, are fruitful of charm. The purple of the plum and the grape contrasted with the scarlet of the cherry, the orange of the tangerine, the lemon of the citron and the green of the gooseberry blend into a delectable garland of tempting and tasty beauty, served up distractingly on the brim or around the crowns of most of the newest vernal chapeaus. Charming little all grape turbans combining the colorings of the Muscatel, Tokay, Catawba, Malaga and Concord are worthy of a bacchante's dream. Large, floppy hats of leghorn for later summer wear also show grape trimmings, but the tiny little shapes of black satin or dark straw wreathed in 57 varieties of berries (straw berries of course on the shapes of straw) seem to appeal most to the feminine taste. They are certainly all to the tutti-fruiti! After all, we may as well use up the grapes and apricots and oranges and cherries and peaches on our hats. From July first on it will be the only way left for them to go to our heads.

It really looks, however, as if the season of the fruity headgear would be a short one, the way the vegetable millinery is pushing to the fore and the forehead. One astonishing little black satin draped sailor model in a Fifth Ave. window is enough in itself alone to switch fickle feminine taste from fruits to legumes. Rakishly garnished on one side with a new potato, three carrots, two turnips and a couple of cucumbers, gherkin size, it is a veritable vegetable sensation. Another snappy little shepherdess poke of shiny, black straw wreathed in tiny scarlet and green peppers, assuredly is full of pep.

With the milliner and the truck gardener thus joining hands we may soon expect such fascinating vegetable millinery combination salads as a perky poke festooned in pickles and parsnips, a turban of Brussels sprouts. Nor need we be surprised at a sailor strewn with salsify and string beans or even a succotash toque of Lima beans and corn.

After sporting SOME corn on our foot for several seasons this at least ought to be a welcome Fashion. Such a shift from one extreme to the other hardly would go against the grain.

A chapeau garlanded in onions and garlic is bound to have quite an air and a tureen shaped hat with its brim full of carrots, potatoes, turnips and onions is stew chic for words.

Surely, from the florists to the fruiterers has been but a step for our designing little milliners and from the fruiterers to the green grocers but another. A hop skip and a jump may lead them next to the butchers and the fishmongers. We yet may see our headgear adorned with something neat in a second joint, a cluster of cutlets or a garniture of soft shell crabs interspersed with clams and scollops.

THE GOSPEL OF THRIFT

Nearly two hundred years ago Benjamin Franklin preached the gospel of thrift and savings through the medium of his now famous publication, "Poor Richard's Almanac."

The aphorisms of two centuries past have come to have a new meaning with the introduction of War Savings. Here are a few timely hints from the Great Apostle of Thrift, uttered many decades ago for the benefit of the people of today:

DETROIT PROSPERS UNDER DRY REGIME

By JAMES COUZENS
Mayor of Detroit
(Written for The United Press)

DETROIT, Mich., Feb. 15.—Detroit was the first of the "million" class cities to go dry. The first of May, 1918, saw 1200 saloon licenses automatically canceled. While the war days and their abnormal activities have tended to obscure the direct concrete results of prohibition, my duties as Police Commissioner and Mayor have shown me no permanent damage to the city's prosperity. On the contrary, I have before me the data to prove that the city has benefited enormously.

Petty crime in Detroit has been reduced by from 60 to 70 per cent. The House of Correction previously was overflowing and in need of expansion. Now the commissioners find their charges number only one-third of the former total.

The visiting nurses of the board of health report the improvement in home conditions as beyond their greatest expectations. Child welfare has received an impetus which millions of dollars in appropriations could not have effected.

Detroit merchants report a greater business from the working classes than ever before, and the banks show a greatly increased number of depositors. There are those who believe that high wages in war plants have brought this about, but it is my personal opinion as a banker, manufacturer and city official that prohibition should have equal credit with war wages. Collections also have been improved.

The manufacturers were told that prohibition would bring a labor shortage, but this has been disproven. Factory records show conclusively that the elimination of liquor has reduced tardiness, absence and accidents in the plants to say nothing of production increase.

The commissioner of health states that there is no increase in the number addicted to drugs.

There is bootlegging of liquor, but it has not been more prevalent than expected, and should be reduced to a minimum when Ohio and Toledo becomes dry.

No large hotels have gone out of business. While they felt a reaction for a time, they are gradually recuperating. The majority of the downtown cafes and saloons of good reputation have continued in operation. Several of the largest retain their cabarets although they are not on the lavish scale of former times. Real estate values have not been permanently affected.

The elimination of vice has been aided by prohibition. Detroit abolished her tenderloin before prohibition came, but the dry edict guaranteed that abolition.

The theater business has been better than ever.

The best indication of the class which prohibition has its greatest effect among is given by the statement of the manager of a taxicab company. He says that his business was cut 60 per cent.

Detroit can not trace the harm prohibition may have done, but it can sense the good effects and the greatest of these will not arrive until the present generation of children has been permitted to develop in homes unmolested by John Barleycorn.

A COMPARISON AT LEAST CONVENIENT

A truly admirable description of the Bolsheviki is one given by M. Paul N. Milukoff, who was Russian foreign minister just after the revolution, when he said that "they are mad dogs who want to bite others so that all may be mad."

Of course, the characterization is not perfect. For one thing, it is unjust to mad dogs, for those poor creatures do not bite because they want to spread the infection of which they are the innocent and helpless victims, but because they are in an agony of fear and pain, and they bite because the primordial impulse to do so has lingered in their darkened minds as the one means of relief or self-protection. From the human standpoint, however, the mad dog must be treated as vicious — as though he knew what he was doing and wanted to involve everybody and everything he meets in his own miserable fate. That explains and justifies the ruthlessness of the measures taken against him.

The Bolsheviki, if not exactly like mad dogs, are exactly like what mad dogs seem to be, and they do really want to make as many others as possible as mad as themselves. They are succeeding, to a degree and after a fashion, and the great men assembled in Paris are seeking a plan for ending the ravages of these savage children of German militarism. It is to be hoped that they find one soon and follow it energetically.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Feb. 17.—Husbands who leave romantic notes from women other than friend wife laying around carelessly, have no kick coming if F. W. picks them up and reads them. That goes for money left on the bureau also, according to Superior Judge Monroe. "If a man leaves money or letters around and his wife gets them, he has no complaint to make," was the ruling of Judge Monroe in the divorce action of Fred W. Drake against his wife, Melvina. Drake testified his wife picked up and read a letter from Miss Lulu Leisenring, a nurse, whom Drake said was his cousin.

CONSIDER STRIKE

PORTLAND, Ore.—The advisability of calling a coast-wide strike will be considered at the meeting of the Pacific Coast District Metal Trades council which opened here at 10 o'clock this morning. More than 200 delegates, representing the metal trades organizations in the states of California, Oregon, Washington and British Columbia, are present. It is the regular annual convention of the council, but the contemplated strike makes it anything except the usual gathering which occurs yearly. Whether a walkout shall be recommended to the various unions of the district was the sole topic at the convention hall this morning, and it is expected to be the main subject of discussion throughout the week, according to the more radical delegates. The more conservative scoff at the idea, stating that the convention will deal only with the handling of labor's position with the expiration of the Macy Board on April 1st, next. Wages, hours and working conditions will be the first subjects on the list to be discussed. With the termination of the Macy Adjustment Board on April 1st, labor will be forced to deal directly with the employers. This week's convention will form a body to represent labor in discussions of wages, hours and working conditions. This body will be instructed as to the demands of the employes which it will put before the employers. It is expected that a similar body will be formed by the employers to present their side at controversies. The strike agitation will have no effect on the convention according to conservative laborites, although many "reds" are expected to be in attendance. The Macy award made last October is the cause of the alleged strike agitation—the same grievance which resulted in the general strikes at Seattle and Tacoma. This award was $4.16 for common laborers and $6.40 for the basic trades. The metal trades workers have for some time been demanding $5.50 as a daily wage for common laborers, $6 for helpers, $7 for skilled workmen and $8 for mechanics. The unions belonging to the metal trades organization includes the boilermakers, blacksmiths, stationary and hoisting engineers, electrical workers, machinists, shipyard laborers, ship-riggers and liners, painters, structural iron workers, carpenters, asbestos workers, draughtsmen, caulkers, burners, welders and watchmen.

A Sheffield (England) hairdresser who volunteered for munitions work in one week of 53 hours earned more than $85.

"DAMNED LIARS"

of the Y. M. C. A., an organization with ten times as many "workers" and thirty times as much financial backing? There is but one answer—it can't. But however odd it may seem in my two months and a half at the front I actually saw six Salvation Army members to one of the Y. M. C. A. But, strange to say, in our training period of about the same duration (when we were stationed at De Stains, a suburb of Paris), I never had the pleasure of seeing or conversing with a single Salvation Army worker; while on our frequent visits to Paris, which is known as a harbor for Y. M. C. A. secretaries, we encountered more wearers of the Red Triangle uniforms than we saw United States officers. Right here I wish to say that the activities of the Salvation Army cannot be commended too highly. The work of the organization and the "lassies" themselves were a Godsend to the fellows at the front; and they deserve all the more credit for "doing their 'best'" under very adverse circumstances, such as financial support, etc. Furthermore, they did all and even more than they claimed they would do, while most of the Y. M. C. A.'s full page advertisements were extremely clever and misleading schemes to work upon the sympathies of the public.

One alibi he claimed was "most of the criticism arose through misunderstandings on the part of soldiers not being familiar enough with French money to reckon readily and who sometimes confused the French centime with the American cent." Now, as a matter of fact, the French have no one centime piece—their smallest coin being one valued at five centimes which is one penny in American money. Besides are American soldiers so illiterate and ignorant that they cannot figure out the value of the money they are paid by the Government, and which they use exclusively? I know there was no mistake made when I threw down on the counter a franc (18 to 20 cents) and sometimes a franc and a half, for a ten-cent bar of chocolate. If any mistake was made it was on the part of the secretaries.

If all these criticisms made by returning soldiers are not true why are the complaints centered solely upon one organization and not upon the other four or five?

It's nothing in our young lives except that when we knew how willingly the folks here at home were sacrificing and donating to the cause it naturally started us "a thinkin" just why these donated funds were used as an investment to coin money at our expense.

According to published articles in leading magazines there remains still unspent some eighty-five millions of dollars in the Y. M. C. A. treasury of the one hundred millions obtained in the drive some months ago, and here they are with another drive. As the Association lost no money in its canteen service it is quite a puzzle to figure out just where the fifteen millions went. Perhaps it went for the maintenance of the "workers" in Paris, or for the building of luxuriously furnished officers' huts at places far out of danger such as Brest or Bordeaux.

John R. Mott, president of the Y. M. C. A., George W. Perkins, chairman of its finance committee, and Frederick B. Skipp, the Association's treasurer in France, have all been approached with criticisms and queries concerning the appropriation of funds, but so far all that they have done in reply is to deny all accusations of fraud, and promise that "an investigation will be made immediately." As yet the only investigation has resulted in finding three Y. M. C. A. "workers" guilty of "mis-appropriating" (not stealing mind you) forty thousand dollars while doing canteen work in France. The men (?) guilty of this hypocritical and degrading crime are Rev. Atkins of Eagle Pass, Texas; George Schoeffel, who was formerly secretary of the Rochester, N. Y., Chamber of Commerce, and Harry Mansfield, formerly secretary of the New York City Sailors' Union. In citing these three cases I do not mean to infer that all Y. M. C. A. men are "grafters" or "crooks," for there are some very good men in its employ.

But again coming back to the theme of this article: Rev. Willisford stated that "the imagination of the 'boy' soldiers is a wonderful agent," apparently giving the idea that American soldiers are incapable of judging for themselves and are not responsible for his own statements—who won the war—those irresponsible 'boy' soldiers or the Y. M. C. A.? And who has the right to give their opinions—the actual fighters or those who profited at their expense? Any returned soldier could write a book or two on this same subject, but I think enough has been said to convince the reader that as a whole the Y. M. C. A. in France proved itself to be nothing more nor less than a grafting institution. Were it necessary I could give numerous personal experiences of their dishonesty both at the front and behind the lines. But again let me say that all the secretaries and entertainers were not grafters although the 'straight' ones were in the minority. And in the cases of the latter, in my opinion, it is useless for them to try to exonerate those who were dishonest, but instead should devote their time trying to forget that they were ever members of the Y. M. C. A. in the American Expeditionary Forces.

In closing, I would like to state that the Young Men's Christian Association has been a reflection on the word "Christian" and instead of being an aid to Christianity it has been decidedly detrimental. Many of the soldiers who were more or less indifferent along religious lines were led to believe (on account of their treatment by the Y. M. C. A.) that all church-goers—especially those of the Protestant faith—are "cranks" and "hypocrites"—and the sad feature of it all is that many years will be required to outlive this injustice to the churches brought about by the Y. M. C. A. organization.
